FACULTY

Principal

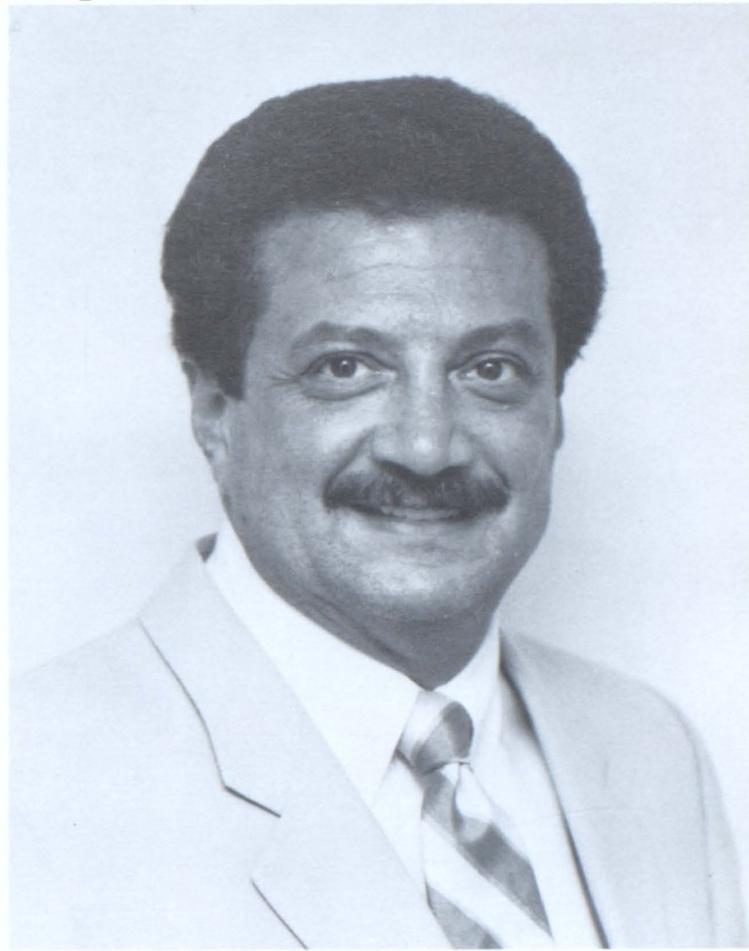

The principal's job can be demanding as well as lonely. The buck literally stops here! It takes an authority figure, who is capable of displaying patience and fairness, mixed with perserverance, to endure at the helm of a school as large as Barringer. Our principal Ms. Rose Serra, has devoted many years of her life to the education of our children. She began her career at Barringer as a math teacher. Then she moved up to department chairperson, vice principal, and finally principal, while being involved daily in desicion making with faculty members, guidance personnel, and outside groups, Ms. Serra has always been approachable by the student body. Whether she was standing at the front door in the morning greeting the students, or talking on the public address system, Ms. Serra made her presence known with a cheerful "Good Morning"!

Social Studies

Why is youth in rebellion? Are the lines between capitalism and communism blurring? What has man achieved in his evolution through the centuries? These are some of the vital issues that our social studies classes consider each day. Through the study of civilization students learn to think, to evaluate, to determine, to interpret, and to apply knowledge to the solution of everyday human problems. Special Education

Special education is generally accepted to mean education for, and available to exceptional individuals (handicapped and gifted) whose educational needs are different in part from those of most of their peers. Children and youth in need of special education are not limited to specific categories. Rather they include all those who require unusual curricular or instructional adjustment throughout their school career or some significant portion of it. Barringer's special education is built on the concept of understanding unusual differences among the school-age population and meeting individual needs. Chairman: Luis Lopez

Dedication

Name: Salvatore Di Gerlando

College and degrees: B.A., Montclair State, M.A., N.Y.U.

Wrestling coach, theatrical sets designer, yearbook and newspaper advisor, photography instructor, video and computer teacher, these are the many hats Mr. Sal Di Gerlando has worn while teaching at Barringer High School for the past 25 years. Although art is the subject he teaches, he has developed many interests that he has shared with his students.

When he graduated from Barringer, the words beneath Mr. Di Gerlando's yearbook photo, revealed his enjoyment in participating in various sports. And he has followed through on that pleasure his whole life.

Mr. Di Gerlando began wrestling in college, and wanted to continue it in Barringer. So when he first started teaching art at Barringer, he also coached wrestling after school.

He studied Isshinryu Karate for many years, eventually earning a black belt. He has run the N.Y. marathon, plays tennis weekly year round, skis regularly during the winter, and plays on a suburban volleyball club.

Perhaps with the belief that as a student he could have become more involved in school activities, Mr. Di Gerlando has attempted to encourage current Barringer students to participate in a variety of clubs. He has been the advisor of the Athenaeum yearbook for twenty years — longer than any other yearbook advisor in N.J. Last year, he assumed the sponsorship of the Acropolis News along with his other voluntary duties: advisor to a photography club, a video production club, and a computer club.

In 1985, Mr. Di Gerlando and his yearbook staff, began research on the history of Barringer High School, the oldest high school in New Jersey, and the third to be established in the United States. In 1988, the project was finally completed, and the entire colorful history of our alma mater was published in that yearbook. Sifting through the handwritten journals in the school library, while conducting the research was fascinating and rewarding.

As a founding member of the Barringer Alumni Association, Mr. Di Gerlando worked with the sesquicentennial committee and was elected school historian. This group was instrumental in the 150th anniversary celebration of the institution of Newark/Barringer High School, which was held at the Aspen Manor in 1988.

Mr. Di Gerlando recently wrote 2 grants — one was accepted, the other near acceptance. The funded grant is a $58,000 cash award to develop a computer desktop publishing system, and a computer graphics work station at Barringer. These machines will be used to aid in the publishing of the yearbook and the school paper.

The second grant still under consideration is through the N.J. Historical Commission. The objective of this proposal is to photocopy and publish the historic Barringer journals that have been buried in the library for many years. These manuscripts depict the lives of the typical high school student of the 19th century, and are written in their own hand.

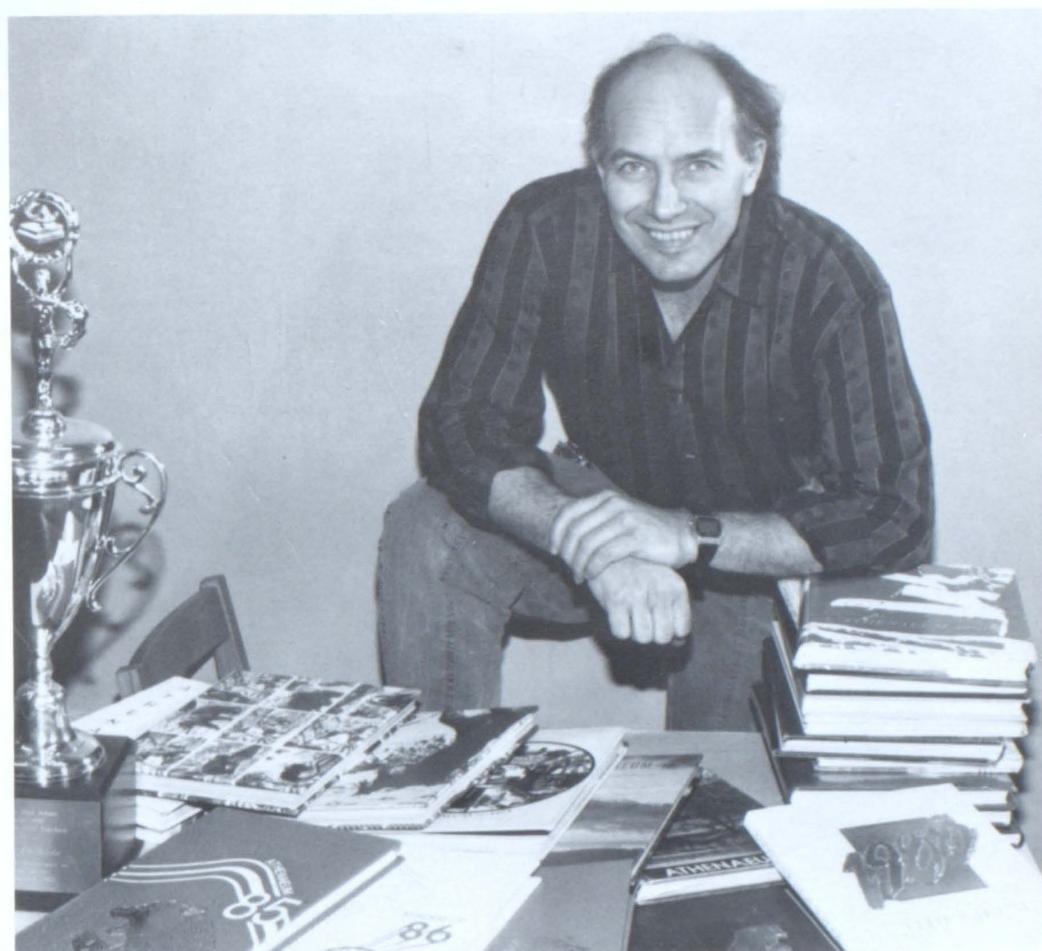

Over the years, while teaching at Barringer, Mr. Di Gerlando pursued many hobbies and interests. For 15 years, he was an owner of the Salem Craftsmen Guild, a pottery and sculpture gallery and studio with locations in Union and Upper Montclair. This company sold equipment, gave instruction, and allowed craftsmen the opportunity to display and sell their work in the gallery. Mr. Di Gerlando created pottery on the potters wheel, and sculpture for resale.

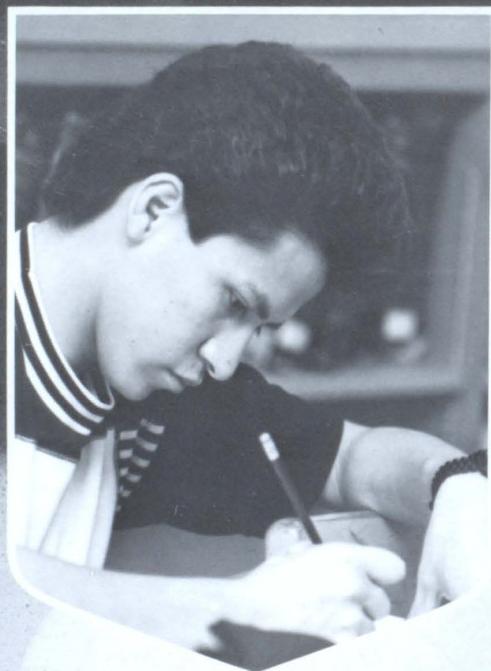

In the summer, Mr. Di Gerlando works on the restoration of his 1967 Corvette convertible and 1973 MGB sportscars. He also owns an extensive collection of baseball cards, that he has continued since he was in elementary school.

Most of all, Mr. Di Gerlando enjoys working with children. His own, Alex age 11, and Tara age 6, and of course Barringer students. When people ask him why he remains at school until 5:00 p.m. daily. His comment to them is "as long as one student is willing to remain after school to perfect a photograph in the darkroom, or perhaps redo a layout design, or maybe develop a final draft for a yearbook story, I am willing to stay at the school to help them. If they are willing to put in the time, so am I."

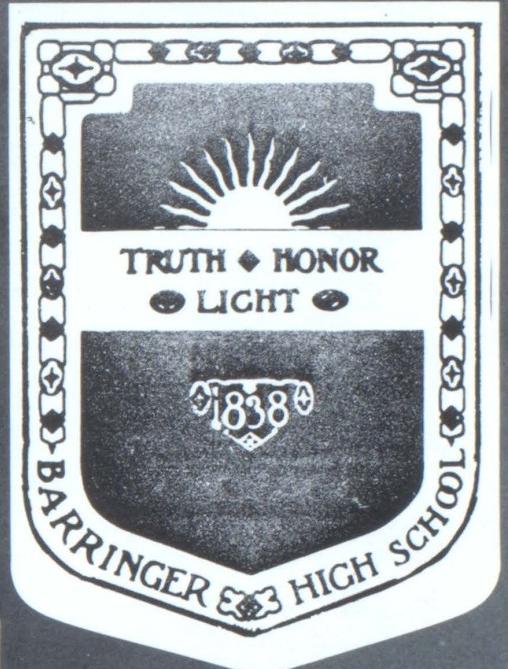

Mr. Di Gerlando constantly reminds his yearbook and newspaper staff that above anything else, whether it's photography, or copy writing, or layout development, the student should always present their very best, and not be satisfied with less. He makes his students aware that they must make a commitment to the highest quality when working on the yearbook or newspaper staff. Mr. Di Gerlando warns them that they have a responsibility to the student body to create the very best they can. A product they can the years, reached or exceeded the highest standards in design and photography.

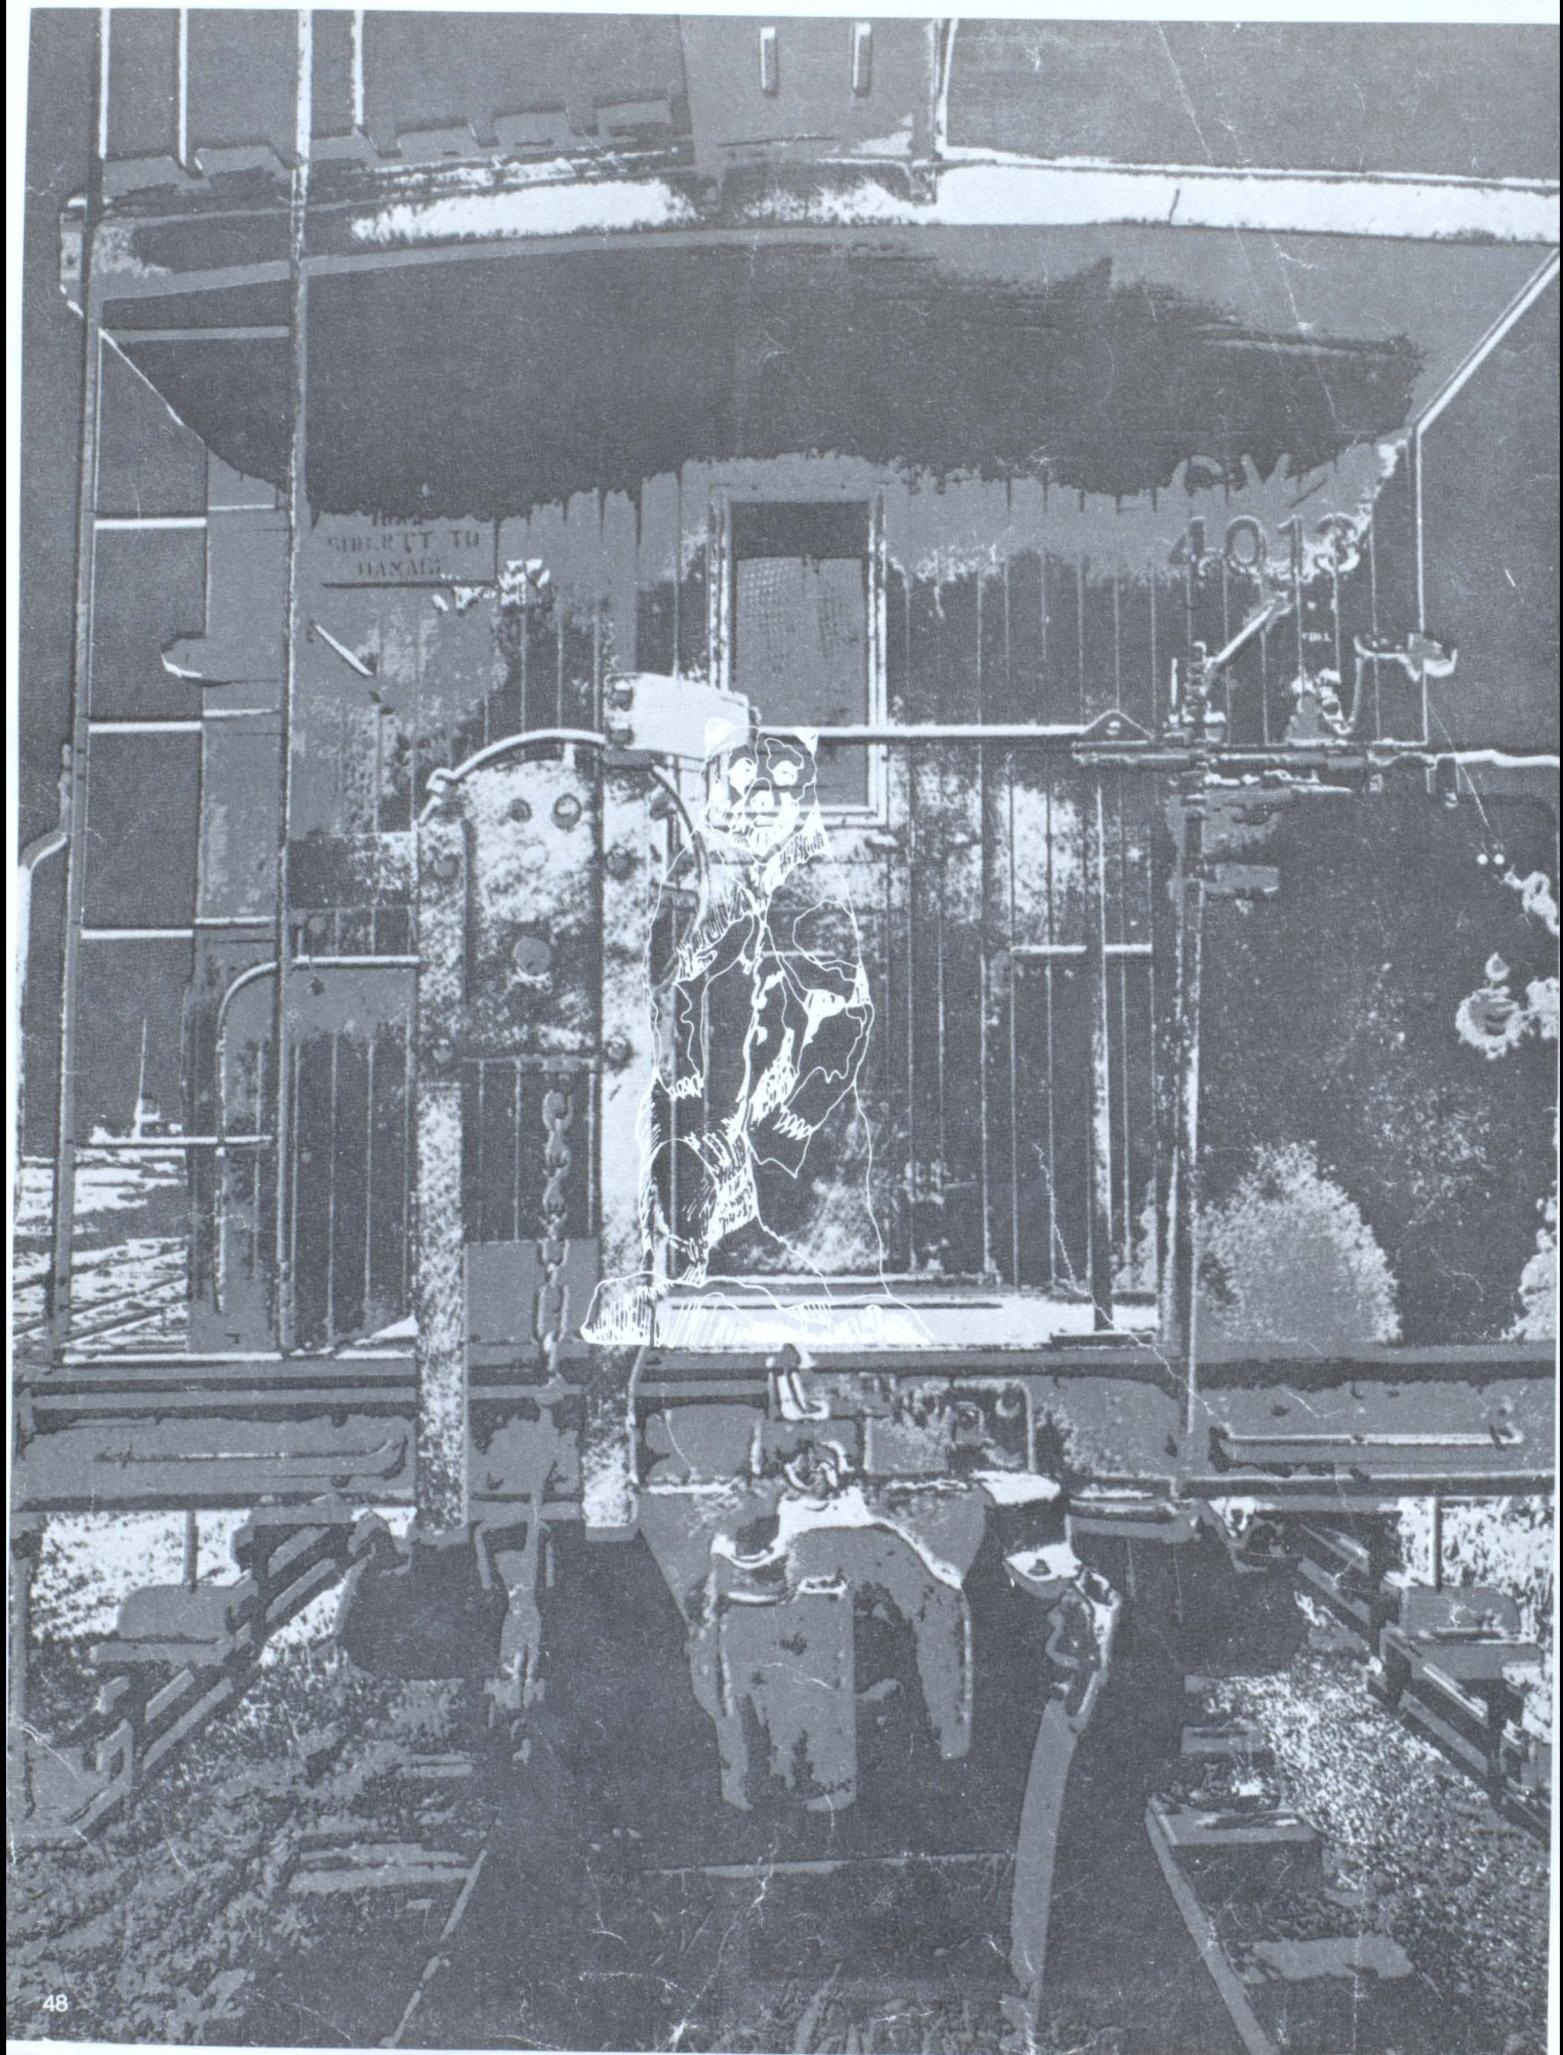

We The Class of 1990 wish to dedicate this yearbook to Mr. Sal Di Gerlando for his courage, dedication and hard work.

Athenaeum Staff

Carolyn Phang, Javier Perez, Agueda Perez, Advisor Sal DiGerlando, Jennifer Worthen, Leah Worthen

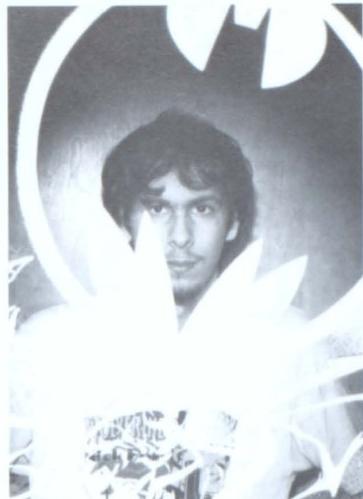

If an unsuspecting visitor were to walk in on a Yearbook meeting, the scene greeting him would be one of bustling chaos. Working furiously to meet their deadlines, all sections (Photography, Lay-Out, Directory, Activities, Sports, Faculty, Seniors, and Advertisements) found that a sense of humor, and dedication, helped combat little insignificant details such as scarcity of two essential elements: time and money.

Barringer Yearbook depends on photography. The Athenaeum photographers are a group of talented individuals who have demonstrated their skills by capturing the bare essence of the events and activities that occurred during this year. With the aid of alumni the staff has been indispensable in the production of The Athenaeum. Advisor, Mr. DiGerlando.

With its introduction in 1990, the Video Production Club is an organization which explores the development of video tape from the planning stage to its completion. Reviewing current and classic movies on tape, and discussing the newest advances in video hardware and software are also activities conducted at the meetings. Advisor: Mr. Sal Di Gerlando

Youth Advisory Committee

The Youth Advisory Committee or YAC, enables school leaders to help other students by listening — carefully, caring, and confidentially! The peer helper is a visible, positive role model to the entire school and community. The student leaders speak to younger students about the program's purpose, undergo training in group dynamics, leadership, and problem-solving techniques, and make presentations involving role-playing. Students spend a full day at Montclair State College honing the relationship skills with Montclair faculty and graduates. Leaders are selected in the junior year in a process involving consultation with the Barringer staff and parents.

Student Council

The Student Council provides a voice to help improve life in Barringer. The organization trains its members in leadership, conducts fund raising for community and school projects, stimulates voter registration, and develops helpful suggestions for faculty and administration. The members take part in city-wide Student Council activities. A student can join this organization by being elected homeroom representative, student council officer, or by volunteering to serve on council projects. Special merits are given to officer and executive board members for school service.

Close-Up Club

Hannah Olemoh, Carolyn Phang, Mr. Berggren faculty advisor Elmis Valentin, Johann Sanchez

Do you know how our laws are developed, and understand the term "lobbying"? How is a bill vetoed? These are some of the questions that the Close-Up club answers at their meetings. Close-Up consists of a group of determined and dedicated students who research the functions of our government and study the way it operates. Each year, a selected number of members from the club visit Washington, D.C. and Trenton, N.J. At these visits the Close-Up students examine the federal and state governments.

Student Leadership

The goal of the Student Leadership Group is to provide opportunities for students to distinguish themselves by having a positive effect on their school. Students receive two days of training in October to help them learn leadership skills. The students help at the annual Black College Fair, at the food bank, and in various other ways in the community and in their schools. Students can be a part of student leadership by being elected to a position of leadership in student council, or the senior or junior class committee. La Kesha Durham was elected to be the secretary of the Student Leadership Group of the City of Newark. Members meet once a month with other members from all the schools in Newark. Representatives, including the President of the Newark Student Leadership Group, serve as a non-voting member of the Newark Board of Education and present to the Board the concerns of the students.

Working closely as a team each member received a sense of personal as well as cooperative satisfaction. All the hard working young ladies in this group were chosen by tryouts. The squad helps to create color and movement through their marching routines in the Marching Band.

Student Advancement Team

Too often students who do well in the following categories academics, leadership, sports and citizenship are not adequately recognized. This program advised by two of Barringers Vice Principals Mr. Lopez and Mr. Ianuzzi was formed to highlight students who have achieved success in those areas. Hopefully by the end of the school year the entire student body can contract this positive disease.

Due to the reputation of Barringers football team, they were moved to a power-house division. However, unfortunately at the beginning of the season they lost four of their experienced players. Although this year the Blue Bear record did not reflect their determination, that can be changed next year with a good pre-season, and an increased devotion of our players.

The wrestlers representing the "Big Blue" for the 1989-1990 season, have set in motion the fighting spirit, the tenacity and the pride needed to retake the past claims of being recognized as dedicated competitors. Barringer's first wrestling team, coached by Mr. M. Shepard, won Newark's first city tournaments three years in succession. Barringer produced Dennis Joyner, coached by Mr. Fitzsimmons, who placed 4th in the state tournament during the mid 70's. The 90's are the "now" generation of wrestlers. They're fresh! They're hype! They're Blue Bears!

All of the members learned the value of hard work dedication and perseverance. This is the making of true champions. Although this was just the team's second year. They practiced and competed skillfully enough to place second in the city championship. This was a terrific experience for us all! I'm sure next year we will excel even further.
